

Chloe Mickel

Associate

cmickel@bhfs.com

303.223.1178

Denver, Colorado

With a knack for highly technical construction issues, Chloe Mickel has assisted a wide variety of construction professionals in resolving disputes.

Chloe started her legal career representing subcontractors and material suppliers in New Jersey and New York. Thereafter, she was an associate at a Denver-area litigation firm where she focused on defending architects and engineers against complex design defect claims. Chloe's practice at Brownstein focuses on representation of owners, design professionals, and contractors from project conception through the completion.

She has litigated claims involving a wide array of legal issues including breach of contract, design and construction defects, mechanic's liens, bid protests and award disputes, delays, and property damage. As a LEED Green Associate, Chloe has a thorough understanding of sustainable design, construction, and operations.

Practices

Litigation, Construction

Community

Adams County Building Code Board of Appeals

Education

- J.D., 2014, Seton Hall University School of Law
- M.S., 2009, Indiana University
- B.A., 2007, University of Connecticut

Admissions

- Colorado
- New Jersey
- New York
- Wyoming

Membership

Colorado Bar Association

American Bar Association – Forum on Construction Law

U.S. Green Building Council Colorado