Reema Nandy's experience in both the public and private sectors make her a particularly effective commercial litigator. Pulling from her experience in civil litigation and criminal prosecution, Reema navigates complex legal matters with skill and intelligence.

After Reema graduated with honors from the George Washington University School of Law, she has handled a wide variety of legal matters in both the civil and criminal context. Reema's experience in commercial litigation includes preparing pleadings, deposing witnesses, preparing dispositive motions, arguing motions and handling discovery matters. During her criminal practice as a senior trial attorney, Reema tried cases before juries, addressed various evidentiary matters and managed hundreds of cases. Her combined experiences in civil litigation and criminal prosecution make her a well-rounded courtroom advocate.

Reema was also a legal intern with the Honorable Chief Judge Gerald Rosen in the U.S. District for the Eastern District of Michigan and then for the Legal Services of Northern Virginia
