

Water Rights and Water Quality: Interrelationships and Implications
Oct 19, 2016

Presentation

Presenter, Lorman Webinar, October 19, 2016

Brownstein attorneys, Ronda Sandquist, Christine Jochim and Dulcinea Hanuschak, will be presenting this live webinar to help you understand the applicable laws and the intersection between water rights and water quality.

Water rights and water quality issues are interrelated, but most legal frameworks tend to focus on one or the other. An understanding of the applicable laws and the intersection between the two fields is essential to anyone whose work involves water. Regardless of how you use water-municipal water supplies, commercial processes, agriculture, or mining-the diversion, use, and return or disposal of the water must comply with the law.

Who should attend?

This live webinar is designed for engineers, architects, hydrologists, project managers, government officials, utilities directors, presidents, vice presidents, developers, surveyors, environmental professionals and attorneys.

Click here for more information and registration.

---

Meet The Team

Ronda L. Sandquist	Shareholder	T 303.223.1191	rsandquist@bhfs.com
Christine A. Jochim	Shareholder	T 303.223.1163	cjochim@bhfs.com
Dulcinea Z. Hanuschak	Shareholder	T 303.223.1184	dhanuschak@bhfs.com

Related Practices

- Water