Brownstein Benefits Client Update, August 23, 2011

The 2010 health care laws require non-grandfathered group health plans and health insurance issuers offering group or individual health insurance coverage to provide certain preventive health benefits from the first dollar of coverage, with no patient cost-sharing (copayments, coinsurance, deductibles, etc.), when those benefits are delivered in-network.

This newsletter discusses recent guidance on women's preventive services. Please click above to read more.
