

Business & Corporate Advisory

A strategic legal partner for today's corporate entities, Brownstein's Business & Corporate Advisory Group offers all the service of an in-house counsel with all the flexibility of an outside law firm. Acting as general counsel, we bring deep business experience representing companies in all stages of development to our clients, often managing all of their ongoing legal needs. If required, we can provide dedicated, round-the-clock support, including placing attorneys within a client's organization.

Our business and corporate attorneys work with corporations, partnerships and LLCs on a full range of legal issues—acquisition opportunities, asset dispositions, public and private financing, bankruptcy and corporate restructuring, federal policy compliance, securities law compliance, intellectual property issues, antitrust matters, private equity deals, employment law and tax concerns.

Whether your organization is an established business or a startup, we offer both strategic and operational legal guidance. For established organizations, we identify growth strategies, investigate methods for increasing shareholder value and complete capital market offerings. For new ventures, we help design corporate structures, raise capital, develop merger opportunities and define exit strategies. For maturing companies, we consult on succession planning, sale of the company, strategic mergers and management buyouts.

When necessary, we tap the resources of the firm's Litigation Department to represent clients in civil court and in front of regulatory agencies, as well as extensive legal resources in real estate, municipal finance, legislation and environmental law.
