

Natural Resources Associate

The Denver office of Brownstein Hyatt Farber Schreck is seeking an Associate with 1-4 years of experience to join its Natural Resources group. Our Natural Resources group represents clients in complex litigation, administrative proceedings, and transactions pertaining to land use, water quality and water rights, mining, oil and gas, public lands, and air quality.

Ideal candidates will have private law firm experience with a background involving some experience with litigation. Qualified candidates will have an excellent academic record, strong writing, analytical, and public presentation skills, and the ability to work cooperatively with clients, agency officials, and the public.

Please apply by sending a cover letter, resume, writing sample and law school transcripts to attorneyrecruiting@bhfs.com

Brownstein Hyatt Farber Schreck is an equal opportunity employer.
