

The DHS “Public Charge” Proposed Rule: Potential Consequences for Immigrant Families and the Entities That Serve Them

Oct 15, 2018

Client Alert

Brownstein Client Alert, October 15, 2018

On Oct. 10, the Trump administration published a “public charge” proposed rule in the Federal Register for the Department of Homeland Security (DHS).¹ The DHS proposed rule would have broad implications, particularly for clients such as hospital systems, community health centers, non-profit organizations and coalitions that provide direct services or assistance in accessing certain aid programs currently available to low-income immigrants.
