Emily Dyer brings a knack for complex legal research and a deep understanding of appellate issues to her commercial litigation practice.

Before joining Brownstein, Emily was most recently an associate at a litigation firm in Las Vegas. Prior to that, she clerked with Judge Jerome Tao of the Nevada Court of Appeals. While in law school, Emily was the executive managing editor of the Nevada Law Journal; a student attorney and advocate with the Education Advocacy Clinic; and a research assistant to Professor Rebecca Scharf; UNLV's Vice Provost for Faculty Affairs Ngai Pindell, and Dean Dan Hamilton. She also externed with the Clark County District Attorney's Office in Las Vegas and interned with Judge Jennifer Dorsey and Judge Andrew Gordon with the U.S. District Court for the District of Nevada.
