

Wendy U. Nwosu

Associate

wnwosu@bhfs.com

805.882.1411

Santa Barbara, California

Combining a background in environmental and public law, Wendy Nwosu brings diverse legal experience to her natural resources work at Brownstein.

Wendy worked as a summer associate with Brownstein in 2015, working with various partners across the natural resources practice area on a variety of topics, including water law and water rights, land use, environmental law, and public law

Prior to coming to Brownstein, she worked as a faculty research assistant in the Georgetown University Law Center Library delivering legal literary works to faculty and conducting legal research.

She also interned with Public Employees for Environmental Responsibility (PEER), assisted with legal research pertaining to family law at law offices in Ontario, California and worked in Georgetown's Institute for Public Representation (IPR) Clinic – Environmental Law Section.

Community

Board Member, Santa Barbara Barristers

Publications & Presentations

- CEQA News You Can Use - Vol. 3, Issue 1, Brownstein Client Alert, February 1, 2018
- What's All the Ruckus About ADUs?, Co-author, Santa Barbara Lawyer, November 2017
- Brownstein Water: Current Trends in Water Law & Policy, Contributor
- CEQA News You Can Use - Vol. 1, Issue 2, Brownstein Client Alert, February 2, 2017
- California Water Rights: Compliance Checklist for 2017, Brownstein Client Alert, January 6, 2017
- New State Water Measurement Requirements for All Surface Water Users (10+ acre-feet), Brownstein Client Alert, December 30, 2016
- CEQA News You Can Use - Vol. 1, Issue 1, Brownstein Client Alert, October 6, 2016

Education

- J.D., 2016, Georgetown University Law Center
- B.S., 2011, University of California, Riverside, environmental science

Admissions

- California