Representative Matters

- Assisted James Frey and Third Floor Fun, LLC to navigate the complex sweepstakes, contests, and promotional pieces throughout "Endgame: The Calling," which is a story and global contest. Representation consisted of drafting rules of play for the contest and coordinating with local counsel in key international publications to ensure that the promotion was consistent with applicable law.
- Represents MacAndrews & Forbes Incorporated in preparing and filing gaming license applications and assisting MacAndrews & Forbes with all on-going regulatory issues in all jurisdictions in which Scientific Games Corporation holds privileged gaming licenses.
- Obtained the final regulatory approvals for Aristocrat Leisure Limited to purchase Video Gaming Technologies, Inc.
- Representing the third largest gaming company in the US, Penn National, on gaming licensure and regulatory matters for Penn National to develop and manage a casino for the Jamul Indian Tribe near San Diego, California. We also obtained all necessary Nevada regulatory approvals for Penn National to separate a portion of its 28 casinos and race track operations into a real estate investment trust.
- Represents Tropicana Entertainment and Icahn Enterprises in their acquisition of Lumière Place in St. Louis, Missouri. The representation involves assisting Tropicana Entertainment to obtain the regulatory approvals required for Tropicana Entertainment and Icahn Enterprises to own and operate a resort casino property in St. Louis, Missouri. Icahn Enterprises is the majority shareholder of Tropicana Entertainment which currently owns or operates 8 casinos in Nevada, Louisiana, Mississippi, New Jersey, Indiana, and Aruba.
