All In!

Passion and energy are contagious at Brownstein — and one of the things we are most passionate about is involvement with and investment in the community.

From our Karma Volunteer Program to Lunch & Learn educational presentations to extensive pro bono service, giving back is, and always will be, part of our DNA. We connect our people with causes and encourage them to take active leadership roles to improve the communities in which they live and work. Approximately 70 percent of our attorneys and policy professionals serve on nonprofit boards. Last year alone, we contributed nearly 12,000 hours of pro bono professional expertise to help organizations and individuals who otherwise would not have access to legal counsel.

We're also honored to provide financial support to the organizations with which we are involved. This year, that support included an investment in education and the future of our profession with a donation of $500,000 to create endowed fellowships at the University of Colorado and the University of Denver law schools.

When it comes to making a difference in our communities, we're all in!

Small Acts, Big Difference

KARMA VOLUNTEER PROGRAM

Across the firm, we participate in hands-on Karma Projects to help nonprofits and those in need. Our employees, together with family, friends and clients, roll up their sleeves for the community — in the office, after hours and on weekends. In 2015, more than 400 people volunteered at 35 projects, serving over 900 volunteer hours. From packing meals to delivering valentines to fulfilling holiday wishes, we gave back in ways large and small. Here are some highlights:

“We are extremely grateful for Brownstein’s continued support of our many programs. Their generous hearts have brought countless smiles to the children we serve.”

– Lindsey Leonard, Executive Director, Teddy Bear Cancer Foundation

Halle Hewetson Elementary School

Clean clothes for a fresh start

At Hewetson Elementary, many students lack the means to purchase more than one school uniform and do not have a washer/dryer at home. Our Las Vegas team gave the kids a fresh start to their school year by launching a uniform drive, and collecting nearly 300 items of clothing plus funds to install a washer and dryer at the school.

Girls Inc. of Greater Santa Barbara

Landscapers for a day

For United Way's Day of Caring, our Santa Barbara office put their hearts — and their muscle — into community support. The volunteer team moved 10 tons of mulch and dug up bushes to enhance the landscape around a playground at the local Girls Inc. facility.

Metro Caring

Volunteers in the fight against hunger

In Denver, we pitched in to help a nonprofit provide nutritious food to hungry families and individuals. Employees worked in Metro Caring's market and warehouse, stocking groceries and helping guests shop, and organized an officewide food drive, collecting more than two tons of food.

“Your amazing support allows us to accomplish what matters most: ensuring that all families have enough — and nutritious — food to eat. From pro bono work to hands-on volunteerism, Brownstein is an incredible asset to the community.”

– Lynne Butler, Executive Director, Metro Caring

Energy and Commitment

PRO BONO LEGAL SERVICES

Giving back is an integral part of who we are, both as individuals and as a firm. Providing our expertise through pro bono legal services is a significant component of our commitment to the community and to improving the lives of others. We are proud to be recognized by The American Lawyer as one of the top 100 firms in the United States based on our commitment to pro bono work.

Last year, our attorneys, policy professionals and staff contributed nearly 12,000 hours to our pro bono clients, which include more than 100 nonprofits and nonprofit legal service providers. Over 70 percent of our attorneys across the firm provided pro bono legal services.

Here are just a few of 2015's notable pro bono clients and success stories:

“Brownstein’s remarkable commitment to Freedom Service Dogs has helped us transform hundreds of shelter dogs into accredited service dogs for veterans with post-traumatic stress disorder and other people living with disabilities.”

– Michele Ostrander, President and CEO, Freedom Service Dogs

Project Safeguard

Protecting victims of domestic violence

Our Denver litigation attorneys work with Project Safeguard to provide legal advocacy and support to victims of domestic violence, ensuring their safety and survival. Each year, Brownstein attorneys assist numerous victims of domestic violence and harassment to help secure civil protection orders, including representation throughout the permanent protection order process.

European Shoah Legacy Center

Restoring property to Holocaust victims and their families

The European Shoah Legacy Institute (ESLI) was established in 2010 to advocate for the principles enshrined in the 2009 Terezin Declaration, which addresses the restitution of property lost during the Holocaust. In 2015, ESLI commissioned the creation of an online database of immovable property confiscated or otherwise misappropriated in the Holocaust era. Led by Brownstein shareholder Lee Crawford Boyd, co-chair of the database initiative, attorneys throughout the firm are helping to create the database through research on restitution legislation in each of the 47 countries that have endorsed the Terezin Declaration.

Legal Aid Center of Southern Nevada

Giving abused and neglected children a voice

Attorneys in our Las Vegas office represent numerous abused and neglected children who have been removed from their homes, including infants and toddlers. We help these children navigate the legal system, allowing our older clients to take an active role in their own destinies and facilitating permanent placement in a safe and loving home. Our Las Vegas litigation team also represents LACSN's adult clients in civil legal disputes, giving a voice to low-income residents of Clark County who could not otherwise afford an attorney.

Freedom Service Dogs

Bringing more service dogs to people with disabilities

Freedom Service Dogs rescues shelter dogs and custom trains them to assist children, veterans and disabled adults. Brownstein's real estate team represented this innovative client in the acquisition, development and financing of its new headquarters, which will allow Freedom Service Dogs to substantially increase the number of service dogs it can house, train and place with clients.

Inspired and Involved

LUNCH AND LEARN

Each year, we invite local nonprofit partners to make presentations to our employees and clients so that we can better understand community issues, how they're being addressed and how we can help. Here are some of the organizations that shared their vision and knowledge with us.

Planning and preparing for emergencies

Brownstein and our client the Colorado Oil and Gas Association (COGA) are both proud supporters of the work of the American Red Cross. In Denver, we gathered for a "Be Red Cross Ready" presentation where each attendee assembled two preparedness kits — one to keep and one to share.

The Gay and Lesbian Community Center of Southern Nevada

Much-needed program and services

Rooted in the community, the Center supports and promotes activities to further the well-being, positive image and human rights of the lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender and queer community, its allies, and low- to moderate-income residents. Representatives of the Center shared more about their important work with our Las Vegas office.

Operation Gratitude

Care packages that lift spirits

Operation Gratitude lifts the spirits and meets the evolving needs of military personnel by sending thousands of care packages to recruits, veterans, first responders and others every year. This presentation preceded a Karma Project in which our Los Angeles office held a care kit and letter writing workshop, assembling kits filled with new travel-size toiletries.

Sharing Purpose

CLIENT PROFILES

Our relationships with our clients and our communities give us purpose and make our work meaningful. We are honored to work with clients who share our commitment to community and service.

Freeport LNG

Freeport LNG Development, L.P., a Texas-based liquefied natural gas receiving facility, has made environmental, health and safety considerations a priority in both its business planning and in the design and implementation of its projects. The company encourages respect and concern for the environment and emphasizes each employee's individual responsibility in environmental matters through extensive training and communications. As part of a long-term commitment to the region and its citizens, Freeport LNG supports local civic and humanitarian organizations through donations, employee and contractor volunteerism, and charitable contributions. In 2015, the company contributed over $2 million, and supported efforts as diverse as making facilities available for local law enforcement training and funding renovations at a community college.

“Three Square breaks boundaries and food bank stereotypes by providing more nutritious and wholesome food to those in need. Brownstein employees have joined us to fight hunger in the community, packing thousands of meals in our Backpack for Kids program.”

– Brian Burton, President & CEO, Three Square Food Bank

MGM Resorts

MGM Resorts International shows a powerful commitment to the fundamental principles of community engagement. From marshaling its employees to donate more than 1.6 million pounds of food in 2014 to volunteering countless hours to community agencies each year, social responsibility is foundational to the company's culture. MGM Resorts' community investment includes three major programs: a corporate giving program; an employee workplace giving program known as The MGM Resorts Foundation; and an employee volunteer program. Through these channels, MGM Resorts supports a broad array of nonprofit organizations, programs and activities.

Sempra

The Sempra Energy family of companies and its employees are involved in the communities where its employees live and work every day. In 2014, the company and its foundation gave $18.6 million (1.2 percent of its pretax income) in support of the environment, education, community development, and emergency preparedness, safety and disaster response. Sempra's 17,000 employees also donated directly to communities, giving over $3.2 million and 20,500 hours of service. Both the company and its employees take pride in investing time, talent and resources to help communities.

Vail Resorts

The people of Vail Resorts share a passion for the mountains and their communities. Annually, the company gives $8 million to more than 250 nonprofit partners focusing on employees, youth programs and environmental initiatives. Over the past five years, it has supported resource and forest conservation, reduced energy use by 16 percent and pledged to reduce it by 20 percent total before 2020, and raised more than $4 million through a guest donation program to sustain the health of forests. Through The EpicPromise Foundation, Vail Resorts supports its employees and their families with grants for emergency relief and scholarships, as well as giving employees the opportunity to voluntarily contribute to the mission of helping other employees.
